SALE OF ARMY FOOD ALREADY STARTED HERE

All Orders Must Be Placed by Wednesday Night; Net Set for Purchases by Local Merchants: Forbid Re-sale

Families Advised to Group Orders and Purchase in Large Quantities, Delivery
at Defenders' Club, is Plan

BULLETIN.

Ralph Merritt, food administrator for California, has approved the suggestion of Attorney-General Mitchell A. Palmer that he head a group of county commissions in this state to investigate food prices and living conditions, according to word received here today. Merritt is at California Hot Springs, California, and will take up the investigation when he returns, it is understood.

Sale of surplus army food for delivery through the postoffice began today in Oakland.

Preparations were made to receive orders at the main postoffice and at nine branches. The supplies will be shipped from the postoffice at San Francisco to the Defenders' Recreational Club, Thirteenth and Harrison streets, Oakland, and there will be distributed.

Joseph J. Rosborough, postmaster, announced that orders must be placed by Wednesday night. The first shipment, as a result of orders placed today, is expected to reach here about Wednesday morning.

The "Battle of Oakland" is the nation's war to make the world safe for the postoffice, he explained, in a radioed message to the post master of orders from Washington.

Government batteries, with long and short-distance pieces, will lay down a barrage of beans, bacon, beef, flour, rice, tomatoes and soup that is expected to send the profiteers scurrying to the Berlin of outer rout.

CONFERENCE CALLED
BY POSTMASTER

The postmaster called a conference at once of his executives and the executives of the War Camp Community Service. He emphasized the need for the organization to be perfected without delay. He asked for suggestions as to the best manner of distribution.

Several schemes were put forward, including the erection of tents on City Hall park, but at last the Defenders' Club was selected. There is said to be ample room there for handling the large orders that are expected. The heaps of government food, in sacks and cans, will be piled in the accessible rooms, and the public will be given the articles which they have ordered.

The meeting was attended by Herbert J. Bennett and Captain Randal
M. Morton of the War Camp Service, and by Superintendent of Mails
James R. Fahy, Assistant Superintendent S. P. Wagner and Mr. Sharpe of the postoffice finance department.

Orders must be written in purchasers of their forms which will be attached at each of the tan stations. Canned goods may be ordered in as small lots as the customer desires. Flour, dry beans and rice must be ordered in 100-pound sacks.

Customers may group themselves to buy the sacks and then divide the shipment.

All orders must be accompanied by the cash, including the amount of postage from San Francisco to this city. The nine sub-stations at which orders will be received are San Leandro, Fruitvale, East Oakland,

Piedmont, Bacon block, West Oakland, Elmhurst, Emeryville and Station
E at Forty-seventh and Telegraph.

Special precautions will be taken by Postmaster Rosborough to prevent profiteers from buying up any of the army food. He will make a thorough investigation of any suspicious reports and due will be the punishment of the offenders.

Resale of the army food is for-bidden.

Under certain conditions, the government has announced that mail carriers themselves may receive orders, but this will not be done exclusively. It is emphasized by Rosborough that all the orders here must pass through the main postoffice or the sub-stations.

FIRST COME FIRST SERVED, IS SLUGAN

"First come, first served," will be the strict rule followed the post master said. The orders will be numbered and sent on in rotation and it is expected that the shipments will come back in approximately the same order, depending, of course, on the speed with which they can be filled at the quartermaster's depots.

No customer will be permitted to order more than 125 pounds. The purchaser post limit formerly was 70 pounds for the goods, but this has been charged for the duration of the war.

The postage on 100-pound sacks of beans, rice or rice will be $1.05. It was announced by the Oakland postoffice. Flour sells at $6, so the total cost of a sack will be $7.05. With the postage the cost of a sack of rice will be $7.79, and for dry beans, $7.54.

JAPANESE CONTROL OF SHANTUNG TO LEAD TO WAR, SENATORS TOLD

American Writer Attached to Chinese Peace Delegation Says Far East
Experts See Conflict in the Award

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—It was the unanimous opinion of American experts on Far Eastern affairs at Versailles that war must result from the peace treaty provision giving Japan control in the Chinese province of Shantung, the Senate foreign relations committee was told today by Thomas F. Millard, an American writer, who was attached to the Chinese peace delegation.

Concluding a detailed story of the Shantung negotiations, which he said had been held between the Chinese delegates and the American delegation at the conference, Millard said:

"In my opinion, if a marplot had set out deliberately to put China in an embarrassing position, the outcome could not have been more unfortunate. China has lost out entirely in her Shantung claim."

By reason of advice given her by the United States, she did not raise the question in which she was interested. And by reason of her refusal to sign the treaty under which those circumstances she is completely isolated.

Christiansen, also of Oakland, as the latter was leaving the scene of the BUSINESS MEN TO OPPOSE U. S. BY-PRODUCTS BILL

Increase Is Demanded by Firemen Request Changes in Rolling Stock

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The railroads administration was notified today that the strike of shopmen was at an end and was asked to take up wage demands immediately.

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18.—Increases in wages averaging 50 per cent and the installation of automatic stokers, coal passing devices and other shopmen's demands are proposed in a new wage scale and standard rules report, in the hands of the 300 representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers here today.

Demands will be presented to the railroads, as soon as the draft of the proposed rules is completed, according to President Timothy Shee. The firemen and boilermakers demands increases averaging from 35 to 45 per cent and the average is 50 per cent, said Shee. It will cost the railroads of the United States and Canada $200,000,000 to install the automatic devices demanded, defences estimated, while the annual increase in operating expenses entailed by the wage demands was placed at $70,000,000.

11,000 MEN AFFECTED.

The latter figure is based on the assumption that the 117,000 firemen and engineers in the brotherhood will affect 11,000 men. The firemen and boilermakers' demands as an increased burden of taxes upon the general public, rates and fares would be higher under government than under private ownership.

“Likewise, the organizations of railway employees might easily exercise a controlling influence upon national politics,” he said.

Constructive proposals in relation to the railroads, he said, will be submitted to the government. Mr. Peet urged calling for return of the time to private ownership and management, with consolidation of the numerous lines now existing into a limited number of strong competing systems.

Such groups, he said, should be built up by enlarging the present rate systems and not by combining roads on a geographical basis. Federal incorporation of the roads will not be necessary to insure a national system and stronger interstate commerce commission power to regulate rates and services as proposed by the national transportation conference, he said, had been endorsed by vote of the chamber's membership.

GENERAL STRIKE THREATENED IF ONE 'COP' FIRED

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—If Police Commissioner Curtis makes good his threat to discharge members of the force who join the policemen's union, and classifies even a single man, 200 members of the Boston Police in Boston will quit work immediately and will return only when that man is restored to duty.

That is the situation confronting Boston today, as a result of the pledge of the Boston Central Labor Union to declare a general sympathetic strike if the policemen go out.

12,500-Mile Radius for Radio Station

PARIS, Sunday, Aug. 17 (Hearst).—The new wireless station to be erected at Creil, 20 miles near Paris, will have a sending radius of 12,500 miles, according to the Excelsior. It will be one of the most powerful wireless stations in the world, the power being 1,000 watts, and will have a capacity of 12,000 words daily.

HAZWELL PRACTICALLY FREEED

LEAVENWORTH, Kans., Aug. 18.—Walter F. Noff, former member of the “Big Bill Hazzard Gang,” who was sentenced to the Federal prison for twenty years on the charge of robbing the First National Bank of Leavenworth, net, was paroled yesterday from prison, after an absence of 810 days, pending appeal of his case. Noff departed for Chicago.

If you saw it in the TRIBUNE, tell them so. Thank you.

Opticians Yesterday And Today

The optician of yesterday based his success on his personal skill and judgment. With a set of trial lenses and a little discretion he was able to obtain fair results and develop his business to fair proportions.

Today the optical business is no longer founded on the element of individual skill. Instruments of scientific accuracy have been evolved that has made the optical profession one of almost absolute precision and eliminated the necessity of depending in a good measure upon the cooperation of its patrons.

A cardinal principle of the Chin-Beretta store is to include in their equipment anything which will elevate the standard of optics. The most modern instruments of optical science will be found in seven Chin-Beretta stores.

Criterion Quartet Gives Program

The Criterion Quartet, which is composed of Frederick Glover, first tenor; Ernest Drake, second tenor; Sylvester Pearson, baritone, and Scott Beebe, basso and director, gave a program of music at the entertainment and banquet of the Sons of St. George last evening. The members of the musical organization are well-known local singers. They are arranging to give a series of recitals during the season.

COMMITTEE FOR JOHNSON TO BE FUSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—An until such time as the automatic appliances proposed are installed, the work will be heavy for one man to handle. Of the estimated 40,000 locomotives of that weight, not more than 5000 are equipped with the proper mechanical appliances, the delegates said.

Shea said the proposed wage increases would hardly meet the pre-war conditions. The summary of wage demands as announced by Shee is as follows:

SUMMARY OF DEMANDS.

Rate of pay for firemen and helpers in the passenger service to be $5.59 per day of 100 miles or less, except when Mallett engines are used, when the rate shall be $7.20.

Walker D. Hines, director general of the railroads, as soon as the draft of the proposed rules is completed, will present the same to President Timothy Shee.

The firemen and boilermakers demands increases averaging from 35 to 45

The opinion of the National Chamber,” Mr. Peet said, “is that unless the government adopt the policy of fixing low rates and fares with the intention that the result will be that the railroads will be compelled to adopt the demands of the firemen and boilermak-

FOOD WORTH $10,000,000 TO BE SEIZED

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The first arrest in the government's fight against "persistent food profiteers" was made today when John E. Bunker, secretary and general manager of the John F. Campbell company, dealers in sugar, surrendered to District Attorney Charles F. Clyne. Bunker was charged with profiteering in the sale of sugar and is alleged to have taken 40 per cent profit, or 35 per cent in excess of the profit allowed by the food administration. Bunker was released on $5,000 bond.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—A monopoly of the articles that the people must have is intolerable and indefensible, declared Senator Kenyon of Iowa today before the agriculture committee of the Senate, starting hearings on the Kenyon-Anderson bills to regulate the packers to co-operate.

The cost of living made another high record yesterday in the United States during the month of July. Pictures made public today by the bureau of labor statistics, department of labor, show that the cost of 22 principal articles of subsistence in fifty cities of the country increased three per cent over the cost for June.

Sale of millions of dollars worth of army food began at more than 50,000 postoffices throughout the country.

Department of justice officials who expect to seize $10,000,000 worth of hoarded food this week are also watching the sale with interest. Attorney-General Palmer is considering disposing of the seized food through the postoffice once it is condemned through court action.

Congress' legislation to bring down the high prices and end profiteering is expected to be the chief topic of debate in the Senate agriculture committee action during the week.

A sub-committee of the Senate Interstate commerce committee, which is working along the lines suggested by President Wilson, is expected to turn out some recommendations.

The Senate agriculture committee has under consideration the request of Attorney-General Palmer for legislation to the scope of which Palmer is operating. Farmers are fighting these recommendations.

Hearings on bills to regulate the packers are also in progress before the Senate agriculture committee.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—An intensive drive to combat the high cost of living has launched here today when thousands of housekeepers formed in line before the entrances of three big department stores where orders are being taken for government food supplies thrown upon the market at reduced prices. Long before the time scheduled for opening the stores, vast crowds had formed.

Indiana Mayor Fears to Summon Troops

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 18.—Troops held in readiness in four Indiana cities for intervention in Hammond's strike riot will not be sent to the Calumet, except as a last resort, it was indicated early today. Mayor H. C. Brown, fearing the effects of the presence of the militiamen on the foreign-born population of the city, has decided to call for the aid of the troops only in the event that arbitration with the Standard Steel Car Company employees fails.

Strike leaders pleaded with the mayor to keep the armed forces away until all hope of mediation has passed, according to Hammond officials.

NEVER ENJOYED BETTER HEALTH

Always Full of Energy Since Taking Tanlac, Says Frank De Arcs

"Not in years have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Tanlac," said Frank De Arcs, 36, who has a fine place for H. & Sons, who lives at 161 Ellis street, San Francisco, a few days ago.

"I had been in a general run-down condition for several years," continued Mr. De Arcs, "and when I commenced taking Tanlac I had gotten to the point where I could hardly stand up. Tanlac was so good I suffered a lot from pains in the small of my back, and was so nervous that I hardly ever got a good night's sleep. My appetite was poor, and I was so badly constipated that I had to take a laxative of some kind every day. I felt tired and worn out all the time, and could not do any hill until I was hardly able to get around at all."

"I had heard a great deal about Tanlac and I thought it would give me a good start, so I would take it every night. Well, sir, I began to build up right away, and the more Tanlac I took the better I felt, and now since I have been taking Tanlac for three months I have never been so strong as I ever did in my life. That drugged feeling has left me, and I feel fresh and full of energy all the time. My nerves seem to be in perfect condition now, and I can sleep eight to ten hours' good, sound sleep every night. I am never bothered with that pain in my back any more, and I feel so good now that I have overcome, and my entire system has been wonderfully built up. Tanlac is one medicine that does just what they say it does, and I am sure that is what it has done for me that I never lose an opportunity to say good word for it."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by The Owl Drug Company—Advertisement

CIVIL SERVICE ACTS MAY BE HELD INVALID

Jingle Jolts

(By Harvey E. Westgate)
On ferry boat and trolley car, in bar-room and cafe, I sometimes listen in a bit, to hear what people say; but as they talk of peace and war, it always seems to me, they have so many kinds of views that none can quite agree.

For some would have the kaiser hung, but others sing his praise, and as they chew the rag, by heck, they leave me in a daze: some want to oust the Bolsheviks, but some would help them fight, and sometimes I can't tell myself just who is in the right.

Some swear by Woodrow Wilson, but others say he's deaf; some cast a vote for McAdoo, and some for Billie Taft; but when I switch the argument, and score old H. C. L. they all agree with you and me and everything is well.

Engineers' Strike Nearing End, Belief

Settlement of the gasoline engineers' strike is near, in the opinion of J. M. Hale, president of the Gasoline, Marine and Diesel Engineers. He has prepared a communication setting forth the stand of the union members on the matter of overtime and this will be submitted to the launch owners at once. A conference held Friday decided on this method of presenting the case of the strikers.

In other words, during the time that the City Council has been holding up Preston Higgins' appointment, the board has consisted of two members only. This makes the proceedings of the board invalid according to the charter.

A report from the district attorney's office is expected by next Monday night.

The school board met today in an adjourned session to award contracts for portable school buildings. This award was to have been made last week but was held up pending the completion of the new building at 16th and Franklin. The board awarded the contracts of 12 buildings, now partially constructed, and to be finished in six days at a cost of $14,375, and 18 new buildings to be erected at a cost of $21,564.

Militarization Move Among German Police

COLOGNE, Saturday Aug. 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Militarization of German police, contrary to the terms of the peace of Versailles, has already begun, according to information reaching American authorities.

In the city of Cassel, the police were recently completely organized on military lines, it is said. The ultimate size of the new militarized police organization has not been announced.

In that part of the bay south of the Alameda pier is the deepest water and there the dreadnaughts will be stationed throughout the stay of the armada here.

When Secretary Daniels comes to view the site this will be pointed out to him on a map, now being specially prepared under the direction of Major C. E. Hickox, city engineer of Alameda, who has had the survey made which established the bifurcated naval base.

In that part of the bay south of the Alameda pier is the deepest water and there the dreadnaughts will be stationed throughout the stay of the armada here.

When Secretary Daniels comes to view the site this will be pointed out to him on a map, now being specially prepared under the direction of Major C. E. Hickox, city engineer of Alameda, who has had the survey made which established the bifurcated naval base.

In the course of the man-making it has also been discovered that the Pacific fleet will be anchored along the west line of the naval base.

Estuary Bridge Project Is Menaced Cost Now Too Great, S. P. Stand

In response to his repeated and urgent communications for some definite statement of policy with regard to the prosecution of work on the proposed estuary bridge to connect Oakland and Alameda, the Southern Pacific Company has written to S. P. Stand, president of the bridge committee, that it is opposed to going ahead with the project at this time. The letter was before the Board of Supervisors for consideration.

The bonds voted, of $200,000 have been sold, will outlast at the rate of about $40,000 a year unless they are issued. There is three years remaining, according to Deputy District Attorney Theodore P. Wittschier, during which the county can wait for the price to go down before seeking to prosecute.

The Southern Pacific Company, under contract with the county to bear half the expense of the construction, writes that the cost of the bridge, as planned, under the present schedule of costs, will amount to $3,500,000. The original estimate when the project was first broached was $1,000,000. The plan was partially developed and it was estimated that it would cost $1,500,000. The bond issue was voted in 1917 for $1,500,000. Then the war came along and held up the undertaking.

In the meantime the cost of material ascended to such a point that the Southern Pacific engineers estimated the cost would be approximately double the bond issue.

BRIDGE PROJECT ABANDONED

In view of the situation the company asks in the communication that the project be indefinitely abandoned, claiming that the urgency of the matter will not justify the heavy increase.

Two alternate policies are available.

Mrs. Moore was 71 years of age and is survived by five children. They are Mrs. W. A. Stand, Mrs. J. V. Estes, Mrs. J. A. Davis, Mrs. McLean, Miss Ethel Moore and Stanley Moore. The late A. A. Moore Jr., who met his death in an automobile accident in 1914, was another son.

The wife of A. A. Moore, one of the county pioneers, Mrs. Moore was Jacqueline Anne Hall before her marriage, 1871, at San Leandro. The Moores took up their residence there at that time and remained there for two years, until the county seat was moved to Oakland.

Hotaling Witness Is "Boomerang" Testimony Favorable to Plaintiff

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—After a nation-wide search the mysterious and important witness for Richard M. Hotaling developed in the words of Attorney Gavin McNab, into "a boomeranging witness," when Mrs. May Sullivan, of Brooklyn, New York, for five years a maid in the Hotaling family, was called with the assumption of the trial before Superior Judge John Ilana.

Months of search were necessary by Hotaling to obtain this witness by his mother, Miss Lorraine, his maid. At Hotaling, brother of Richard, and by him eventually to reach his wife, the startling statement of Mrs. Sullivan when she took the stand.

Objection to the statement by Attorney McNab, chief counsel for the mother, developed that the defendant, after discovering her present address, the end had represented Mrs. Sullivan that her maid, in turning her property over to the younger son and was apparently a conspirator on the part of this son and his wife.

"And I want to prevent Fred from obtaining it," Mrs. Sullivan said.

"It was my sense of loyalty to Mrs. Hotaling that makes me tell the truth. I am here to protect Mrs. Hotaling from becoming penniless and to help keep her from turning her property over to Fred." Hotaling, also, Hotaling, brother of Richard, and by him eventually to reach his wife, the startling statement of Mrs. Sullivan when she took the stand.

COUNTY TAX TO BE $2.52 IS ESTIMATE

Although only tentative figures have so far been arrived at, it is estimated that the county budget, when finally passed on September 2, will provide for a tax rate of about $2.52 on the $100 valuation. The figures are only a guess and there is no supervisor who will verify them. The doctor is cutting and trimming whatever possible, they say, with the determination to keep the rate down as low as can be done.

The teachers' salary increase, permitted for by over 60,000 taxpayers, is the heaviest boost to last year's rates and the cost of everything entering into the county business has soared.

The liquor was taken to the place in a taxicab driven by

Louis Hansen, who said Reich-old had hired him to deliver it from 460 Rich street.

The proprietor was notified of the seizure and ordered to explain his case to Chief of Police James F. Lynch. Reichold explained to the chief that his house was being renovated, and having no other place to store his liquor stock, he was having it removed to his saloon.

He denied any traffic in it selling it.

The seized liquor will be kept in the property clerk's office at central station, said

Chief of Police Jas. F. Lynch

today. The police chief said that the arresting officer's report warranted a full investigation by federal authorities,

Six Demijohns of Liquor Seized in Front of Saloon

Six demijohns of liquor were taken in charge by Patrolman W. O. Cummings while it was being unloaded in front of the saloon of W. Reichold, 413 Fourteenth street, at an early hour this morning.

The liquor was taken to the place in a taxicab driven by Louis Hansen, who said Reichold had hired him to deliver it from 460 Rich street. The proprietor was notified of the seizure and ordered to explain his case to Chief of Police James F. Lynch. SOCIETY & CHURCH & HOME & STAGE

Artists' Ball To Be Feature Of Hallowe'en

MRS. LEWIS SHWITZER (Kathryn Hubbard), whose marriage Saturday afternoon at St. Clement's Chapel was one of the interesting events in society.—Webster photo for Keystone Pictorial Service.

An Artists' Ball—a replica of that given last March—that memorable affair which has gone down into the social history of the city as having no rival for its brilliance to date—is scheduled for October 31, Hallowe'en, when local society will make merry at the Hotel Oakland. But the directors of the ball have in mind the motif of the ball, to defray the expenses of the production, so that what the affair is to be as brilliant and the program for the entertainment of the guests not to be exceeded, expenses are to be cut down in the decorations. There will be no overhead expense. Artists and it will be in the hands of artists, the decorations will be in keeping with the eve preceding All Saints' Day, when the custom throughout the world of making nests is to be adhered to.

Again in the corridors and ball-rooms of the Hotel Oakland ring with the laughter of merrymakers, for it is known, it is to be an all-night affair, the midnight supper to be attended by hundreds.

Dr. William S. Porter, master of revels at the First Artists' Ball, will again assume that role and many novel stunts will be included in the night's program to make the place of the Queen's Court a jolly one.

Horatio Bonestell will assist Dr. Porter in the executive committee and sponsor the list to be completed at a later date.

Preceding the Artists' Ball by three weeks will be the Baby Hospital Ball at the Municipal Auditorium, a fitting climax for the three-day fete that marks each year—October 3—the date—which will be sponsored by scores of maid and matron friends of the bay cities. Here also are elaborate vaudeville programs to be given. Mrs. Samuel M. Marks, president of the association, having placed this feature of the fete in the hands of the talented members of Holly Branch, of which Mrs. T. Arthur Rickard is chairman.

September 13 is the day set by the Ladies Relief for their muster day in the City Hall plaza. Mrs. Joseph R. Knockland, director of the day, is rapidly completing plans for the eventful day. Mrs. Lillian Bonestell will take charge of the sum concession, securing a corps of the younger girls in the market in selling the confection. Mrs. Clifford Durant will be chairman of the nickel dance and assisting her will be Mrs. Walton Norwood Moore, Mrs. Joseph F. Carlton and Mrs. Wickham Havens.

serve force, Miss Buckingham is a sister of Mrs. Joseph Koford of Oakland.

The wedding will be an event of the near future, taking place in September at the home of Judge and Mrs. Joseph Koford in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pagles, who reside at the Hotel Oakland, have returned from an extensive motor trip through both northern and southern California. Mrs. Pagles is one of the younger matrons of East Bay society who is interested in philanthropic affairs and will aid in the coming charity benefits which serve to formally open the social season in the Bay.

John Quincy Adams Daniels Jr. of Portland, Ore., a pre-medical student at the University of California, is at the Claremont hotel, where he will be established for the college year. Daniels has recently returned from a year's active service in France with ambulance unit No. 343, being in the thick of the Argonne and other heavy fighting.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Gray, who live at the Claremont hotel, have recently joined by his mother, Mrs. J. D. Gray of Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allin Martin in honor of C. B. Allen, uncle of Mrs. Martin, have returned to this city to make their home.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mabel Schmidt, daughter of Mrs. Pauline Schmidt of Piedmont and Valentine W. Miller of Crockett. The wedding took place Sunday week at the First Congregational church in this city. Rev. Francis J. Van Horn officiating. The bride, an attractive blonde, has been interested in club work and has been a member of the social order which leaves it out. When the strangle is taken off there is little sympathy. Sunbury may be tempered but it must be strong.

The desert lacks many things, it is fierce and primitive and struggle for existence is harsh, but one along there but he is not homesick. Our greatest men have been men who have been most alone. Men who have been three years in the desert, longing for that which affords our leisure and Christian thinking. The Savior spent the greater part of thirty years in the desert, and loved it. He gave us his teachings.

REVELATIONS of WIFE

This is one of the season's daintiest designs, a separate skirt of flesh crepe de chine. It is prettily embroidered and trimmed in lace. From J. M. Gidding. Copyright, Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

IS MADGE CORRECT IN HER ESTIMATE OR DRAKE'S THOUGHT?

As Allen Drake's long, facile fingers turned the leaves of his notebook and jotted down figures and other symbols upon the pad of paper at his side, I watched him with fascinated, unblinking eyes.

What he was doing I hadn't the slightest idea. Of course, I had never presumed to examine the mysterious rice paper from my father which had been in my care for so long. And Mr. Drake held his notebook in such a position—whether intentionally or not I couldn't determine—that I couldn't see, even if I had wished to do so, the surface of the paper.

After he had made an apparently endless calculation upon the pad of paper by his side he looked up abruptly at me.

"That's that," he said laconically.

There was no hint of courtesy—or even a "please." It was as if he had snapped a command at some menial. I stiffened in remembrance of his rudeness, then remembered that I wasn't my own self in this expedition, that I was under Lillian, a humble member of the service in which this man held a high place.

Then too, so soon as I had descended to his station—that he was so completely absorbed in the work at hand I was to him simply a human machine sitting opposite him.

I made no answer simply lifted my pencil and held it poised above the paper.

"Ten times ten," dictated Mr. Drake, "plus fifty times six, less fifty-nine, take the square root, less one, divided by four."

"AH, LIGHTNING CALCULATOR!"

I made a rapid calculation mentally, and as he paused expectantly, I wrote down the number seven, and waited for his next orders.

"Why didn't you put down those numbers?" snapped Mr. Drake.

"I thought you simply wanted the answer," I replied.

"What is your answer?" There was a tinge of distaste in his voice that stung me. I was beginning to understand the reason for my vague distaste of and pride against Mr. Drake.

"Seven."

"Ah, a lightning calculator!" he answered, and I fancied that his voice held a sneer. He made a rapid calculation upon his own sheet, wrote down final number, and then looked across at me.

"You happened to get it this time," he said, "but please don't do that sort of thing again. Take down the figures as I give them to you and work the calculation out on paper."

"Very well," I answered meekly, although I longed to reach across the table and box his ears.

And then, for ten minutes he kept me busy with computations that to my mind seemed as silly as saying the multiplication table forward and backward, but the results of which to him evidently were important, for he invariably matched my answer with one he had himself arrived at as a result of similar computations, and jotted the result down at a different point of his notebook, always referring back to the mysterious page of rice paper so deftly fastened upon a page of the book.

When mine host of the inn appeared, bearing the tiny claims which were the first course of our dinner, I saw Mr. Drake quickly close his notebook and slip it into his pocket, and at almost the same instant turn the pad of paper in his hand, face downward, so that it was presented a blank surface. Without waiting for a hint from him I did the same thing to the pad of paper at my left, and we discussed our claims as though there were no such things in the world as mysterious papers and ridiculous computations.

Mr. Drake dropped his arbitrary manner, and became once more the polished courtious man of the world he remembered from the time he had eaten at our inn. But his countenance was of a distinctly different flavor from the highly interesting talk of world affairs with which he had dazzled Dicky and me at that time. I had an unpleasant impression that he was "talking down" to me as he would to a child.

As we finished our claims he set his plate to one side, and without waiting for the landlord to remove it, pulled out his notebook and turned his pad of paper face upward again. I followed this example with outward courtesy, but was inwardly fuming with indignation.

For there had lurched upon me the reason for the patronizing manner which he had adopted toward me, and the vague prejudice I had against him crystallized into active dislike.

Allen Drake, I was sure, belonged to the class of men who regard women as inferior beings mentally. He was putting me up to his aid because he admired what he was pleased to call my tact, but he had to react to me in my ability to handle the work I was attempting.

I was surprised at the strength of the revulsion I felt toward Allen Drake when I finally realized the belittling attitude in which he held my mentality. My fingers clenched, and I bit my lips savagely for fear I might utter some word which would betray me.

I could not, in fact, myself realize that I cared what this man's opinion of me was. He like myself was merely a pawn in the tremendous game, but I couldn't hide from the eyes of my own brain the humiliating fact that his opinion did matter to me.

My eyes vaguely blushing and fearing him I had yet been much interested and fascinated by the man's powerful personality. I had grappled, despite myself, with his mind, of my deepest source of mind with my deepest friend. Both roads led to Forest as of the present-day, pompous, rich, and powerful district attorney as day before yesterday. His heart, too, was filled with a sharp, twisting, curling desire that his blood ran cold.

He opened the album.

And then he saw that, in the middle of the book, half a dozen pages had been cut out, and, revealing the missing pages with those preceding classic phrase.

A bride leaves the marriage altar with the idea of possession firmly implanted in her mind.

She has listened to the words of the sacred service, thereby concluding she is sole owner and operator of one male citizen known in the vernacular of conventional society as "my husband."

Concession implies power to command.

The wife comes forth from the Little Church Around the Corner, drops her domineering, clinging sweetheart and proceeds to establish marital military headquarters in the home. Incidentally she appoints herself to the high post of commander in chief of any and all operations having to do with family manors.

Having grabbed the position of importance and command, she proceeds to issue orders, manifestos, ultimatums. She is the little Napoleon of the little town of Hindenburg of the home.

He loves the devoted little wife—her truly and devotedly—but she does wish me would let him alone just once in a while.

She begins pepperizing her conversation with "ands" and "butters."

She cajoles. She drags out the old raps and suspends the switch. "You can't go to the ball game this afternoon." We need the money for the house.

She wants to get dinner again.

"If you're late for dinner again there will not be any dinner." I'll chuck it away, that's what I'll do.

The glow of the fire warming me put on my hat and go out. Never mind that old story about being delayed at work. You shouldn't be delayed. You should quit. Consider me in the matter. Don't be so entirely selfish."

THREE SISTERS MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEAR HERE

BRIDES 'OBEY' LEFT OUT OF NEW RITUAL

Marriage Rites Changed in Prayer Book Offered by Episcopalians; Spouse Need
Not Give Wife His Goods

Wives will no longer be required to obey their husbands and husbands will not be asked to endow their wives with all their worldly goods in the future, according to the Episcopal rites and providing further that the radicals among the Episcopal clergy be stronger in their arguments than the reactionaries in the coming controversy over certain changes in the sanctioned practices of the church which will be inevitable, it is said, when the general convention takes place in October.

This is only one of a number of changes which, according to an Associated Press dispatch from New York to The TRIBUNE today, the church's commission on the revision and enrichment of the book of common prayer have formulated and will submit to the general convention, and which, according to certain members of the clergy, will simply keep the church abreast of the fast progressing times.

Dr. Alexander Allen of St. Paul's, Oakland, declared in an interview today that the changes were not radical, but were making official certain practices which had naturally arisen during the past year. He stated that he had not used the word "obey" in the marriage service for over a year. Dr. Allen does not go so far as to omit the husband's promise to endow his wife with all his worldly goods. He feels that the spiritual blessings which he sought to endow her with will be more convincing than the endowment, according to the church, is a spiritual and moral one rather than a legal one.

The proposed changes provide for a new prayer for the President of the United States. "The present prayer, said Dr. Allen, "is all right, but the long life of the President—-the world recognizes that long life for any person is not always the greatest thing to be desired and one's prayer will embody a petition for other qualifications for the executive and for the army and the navy."

Other changes which are provided for in a report of the church's committee include a provision for faith healing anointing with holy oils, eucharistic communions and prayers for the dead, reservation of the sacrament and intinction—the use of a dipped wafer instead of the common wafer, the use of oil instead of water in the anointing of the sick.

"The prayer for the dead," said Dr. Allen this morning, "will without doubt be changed to a prayer for those who—though not upon earth—do live in some other plane. The realization of the fact that the millions of dead who have died upon the battlefields of France, when they saw their comrades cut off in the very flower of their youth through no fault of their own—at a time when their unselfish idealism was at its height—that realization will be incorporated into a prayer for their continued happiness."

Largest Freshman Class in History of U. C. Greeted as New Term Opens

They are only "Freshies," so nobody cares what happens to them. Here is what the Sophomores did to some of the new students at the University of California today.

Without a president for the first time in its history the University of California opened its fall semester this morning by welcoming the largest Freshman class ever entering the State University. More than 3000 new students and as many undergraduates gathered this morning in the Greek theater for the first university meeting of the year. It opened with Professor William C. Jones presiding as chairman of the executive board temporarily in charge of campus activities.

Today's opening also marked the 15th anniversary of reception of the first class of students into the university.

Carrying out a tradition of twenty years, Dr. Benjamin Ade Wheeler, as president emeritus of the university, gave a welcome to the students. To them he gave words of admonition to keep away from the bright lights and the boulevards surrounding those cities and to devote themselves to their studies.

PIRATE OF LIBERTY

"The spirit of coming to college is the spirit of liberty and freedom," said Dr. Wheeler. "We are not paid to do things here. You can go to Oakland and spend along the boulevards if you wish and attend gay parties in San Francisco, but you will pay for it later. Americans must have heroes. If they have not, they go to seek out in it. You had better leave college if you cannot do things with a zest."

President Wheeler extended a welcome to the students returning from war service.

"We have between 900 and 1000 students who have served in the service, through the endorsement in some suitable form of some particular amount and manner in which the compensation should be paid will be given to those students who are to be considered by Oakland Post No. 5 of the American Legion, which will hold its regular semi-monthly meeting in the city hall chambers tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock."

President Wheeler was given a stirring ovation as he rose to address the audience. Students in an ooh-wow-wow, which lasted several seconds. The audience remained standing until he began his address.

That the 2000 mark will be reached by tonight in the registration of students was the declaration of Dr. Wheeler. He predicted that before the end of the semester university enrollment would be at least 8000, the largest in its history.

A group of 100 students in the university show its reception of the first class on September 24, 1884, was recorded by Professor George C. Edwards, oldest living member of the university faculty. Professor Edwards, who has served continually over fifty years, who entered with the first class fifty years ago, remembers Bretherton with 10 undergraduates coming from the College of California, and that 10 professors were on the roll as compared to the 500 faculty today.

As students sang the college songs and gave their yell lieutenant James Cumberbatch, a former student of the University, recently returned from service in aerial forces overseas, flew over the heads of the big audience dropping pamphlets urging students to support college activities.

President Wheeler was given a stirring ovation as he rose to address the audience. Students in an ooh-wow-wow, which lasted several seconds. The audience remained standing until he began his address.

Lightweights Getting Ready For Big Battle

Cliff Wixson's gymnasium in Waits tract was crowded with boxing fans yesterday when we went out to get a crew of Jimmy Duffy and Frankie Burns going through their training paces. Duffy went to work at one o'clock and boxed three rounds each. Eddie Laudon and Young Burns and Burns took possession of the rings at three o'clock and went two rounds with Jimmy Dundee and three with Frankie Malone. Although training in the same gymnasium the boys do not see anything of each other as Duffy is out in his home town this week, while Burns shows up. Anyhow they have boxed together often enough in the past to know each other's style. Before Burns went to Frankie Duffy on the scales he was palls and boxing partners but now, while not enemies, they are out to prove who is the real "Pride of Oakland."

Both fighters are in fighting trim already. Duffy will not have to make weight for this fight so he will be at his best and Burns also is in condition when he comes to the weight-making ordeal. The boys will both come into the ring weighing close to the 140-pound mark and both will be at their very best.

THE VIERRA BOYS' ON THE PROGRAM

The two Vierra boys are on this week's card and both are ready for the going. Battling Vierra will be the first to go up and will be one of the most stubbornights on the card while Young Vierra meets Dave Shude. The Shude boy has been a noisy contestor and a victim being Jim Conde and he should give Vierra all the fight he is looking for.

Lee Johnson, the West Oakland star, is matched with Jack Davis and Lee is going to have a houseful of colored friends with him as the snouts from down at the joint are very friendly to Lee and they are always willing to shoot the bank roll whenever he starts. Davis has not done much since he boxed the night before and looks as though he is at the Auditorium but he says he will surprise his friends.

Tommy Hayes has a date with Young Vierra and Scotty Fallon will make his second start when he meets Harry Boxey. Tommy Butler has dug another fighter named Jim Neenan, who will be asked to beat Neenan. Jack McHugh and Neenan out of the door of a ship at the Bethlehem plant.

CITY PREPARED TO ENTERTAIN
FLEET THIS WEEK

Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels will deliver an address in the Greek Theater of the University of California on the day which has been set aside in Fleet Week for East Bay Cities' Day. A big program of barbecues, dances, entertainments and excursions is being arranged to welcome the thousands of "gobs" who will come to Alameda and central Contra Costa counties this weekend.

Oakland is planning big bazaars, and concerts on the shores of Lake Merritt, elaborate air shows, motor boat and canoe races and a public dance. While the carnival is in full swing Secretary Daniels and his party will tour the bay district, making an inspection of the proposed naval base sites.

Programs of festivities have been a simple matter to comprise in the problem of housing the thousands of men and women who have signified their intention of remaining on this side of the bay. Accommodations have been secured for hundreds of tourists who have been drawn by the attractions of Fleet Week. Already San Francisco is facing a serious condition in caring for the strangers who are flooding the city. Oakland over the week end has an example of the crowded conditions which the festivities will bring about when almost every downtown hotel was obliged to turn scores of guests away, after filling every available corner with impromptu sleeping accommodations.

GUESTS WILL BE CARE FOR

Oakland, however, has pledged itself to take care of every stranger who comes to the bay cities to welcome Admiral Rodman's armada. Plans for tent cities, where accommodations will be offered motorists, where sanitation will be taken care of and daily life put on a military basis are under way. Engineers will be called upon to direct the erection of the canopies. All visitors will be warned to bring camping equipment and bed clothing with them.

The city has funds to take care of the white city, whose location is being selected. It is proposed to erect the temporary structures near the International, Grand, Park, Trestleton and Linda Canyon are under consideration. Shower baths for men and women will be provided. Fuel will be a consideration. Available sites along the Franklin Boulevard for motorists are receiving attention. The Oakland Health Department and University of California engineers will cooperate with the fleet. Water, sanitation, food, shelter, entertainment, when arrangements for the tent city have been completed, excursions will be sent to every city within a radius of 300 miles, advising prospective visitors.

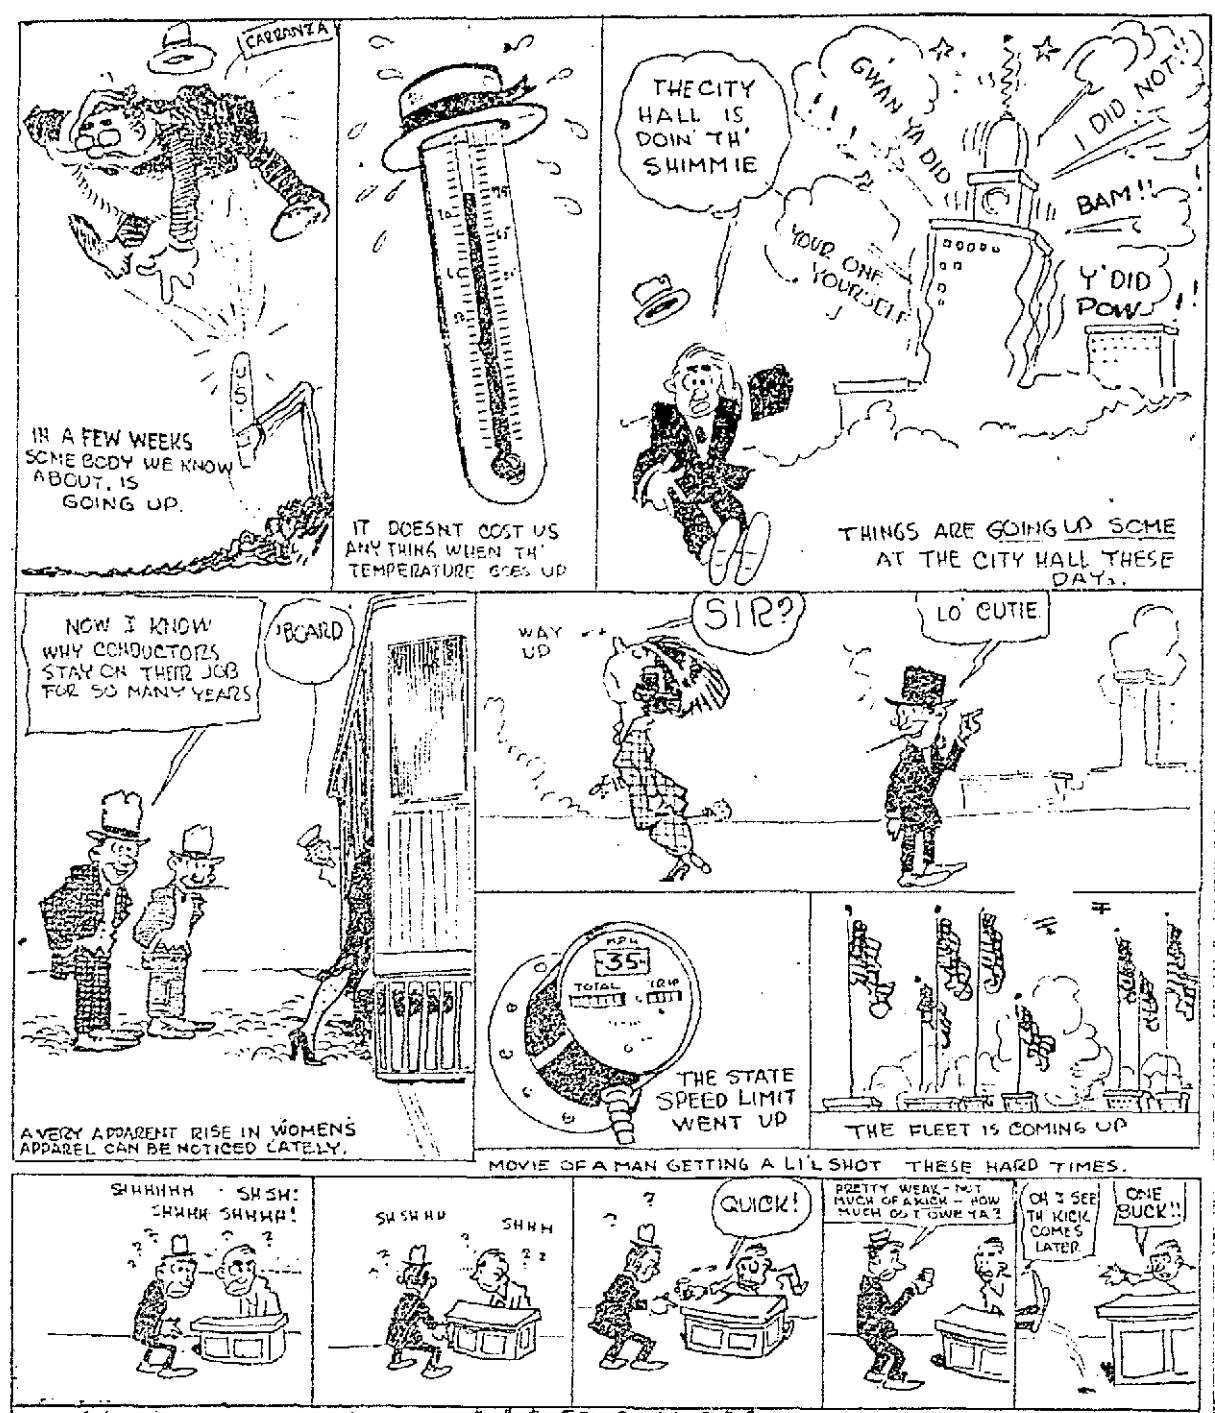

The Horton School

Perkins and Pease, Owners, Oakland 1424 BROADWAY, CALIFORNIA. Will reopen September 2, 1919. A big set of the Kindergarten, Primary, Grammar and High School departments. Boys and girls of all ages. Accredited to State and State Colleges.

Mrs. Sarah W. Horton, Principal.

Residence, 964 18th Street, Oakland. Phone Oakland 2380.

Other Things Are High Beside the Cost of Living of the facilities which Oakland has to offer.

"Gobs" will not be assigned to entertainment of any kind. The daily program will be posted and each man may make his selection. The men will be entertained in their towns, will send great quantities of fruit to the visitors. Boxes for the Ball of the Allies will be arranged at a meeting of the ball committee tomorrow.

PLAN WOMAN'S PARADE

The line of march for the War Woman's Day Parade, which will occur probably on September 3, is being mapped out today. The location of the reviewing stand and the route of the march are to be determined when the ships anchor in San Francisco bay, details will be sent ashore or ships will come alongside the squadron, bringing fresh meat, land-tubbers' bread and other fresh supplies. Although the thirty-five days supplies are there, Uncle Sam says that nothing is too good for the gobs, and they get the best fat of the land.

On the New Mexico, flagship of the fleet, typical supply figures of the whole fleet have been obtained through statistics furnished by the quartermaster officials. There are 1,400 men on board the New Mexico, 1,400 men in the rest of the enlisted personnel on other ships, 250 tons of potatoes are purchased by the food men for thirty days. Electric peckers make them ready for the boilers.

Bread, the second member of the food trinity, is baked by the carload in the ship's ovens. The New Mexico bakery turns out daily between 1,000 and 1,500 loaves. Only in excess of 350 pounds of bread are baked daily. Between 10,000 and 12,000 one-pound loaves of bread are baked daily. Fresh meat, carved by the ship's butchers, form the third member of the immortal three. Each man in the fleet gets over a pound and a half of meat daily. More than 1,000 men on a ton every day is consumed by the New Mexico crew. The refrigerating system that obtains throughout the squadron is perfect. Over 280 tons of beef, mutton, pork and sausages are placed into the fleet's market basket every month.

In excess of 350 pounds of various vegetables are utilized on the New Mexico, which brings to the fleet ships' monthly average up to five tons. Two ounces of sugar daily are in naval food regulations for each man, which means 175 pounds daily or forty-two tons each month.

Coffee is the "grog" of America's sailing men, and they imbibe freely. Each man averages two cups a day, which means on the New Mexico, a daily consumption of five pounds for all the men or 1500 pounds every thirty days. Tea is only utilized one-half as much while coffee and chocolate are as popular among the men as coffee.

Originally the battery contained only Oakland volunteers. They were trained at Camps Ardenia and Kearny and went overseas. Caps in the organization were filled by men from at least twenty states. One hundred and fifty of the battery saw fighting with the 1st and 2d Divisions.

According to John A. Cook, chairman of the arrangements committee, former members from Utah, Nevada and Arizona will join with the Californians at the banquet table. The commander of the organization was Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen.

Oakland theatergoers' last chance to hear Detro, the famed accordionist, is being afforded today, tonight and tomorrow at the T. and D. theater. Detro leaves for New York Wednesday, to appear in the John Cort production "Just A Minute," at the Knickerbocker theater. He will not reappear on the coast for two years.

The famed accordionist is not unknown to this city. He has played the Orpheum and Keith houses for seven years. He is a San Francisco boy and holds two gold medals, one given him at the San Diego exposition and the other by the Accordion Club of San Francisco.

Detro is appearing on the same program at the T. and D. with the Allied Victory pageant, Constance Talmadge in "The Veiled Adventure"; Harry Morey in "Beauty Proof" and other attractions. Ad-

FOOD SUPPLY OF SAILORS IS LAVISH
FREE'S SOLDIER
FROM PRISON

While the "gobs" on the Pacific fleet are receiving all kinds of lavish entertainments and banquets, their old reliable Uncle Sam isn't skimping one bit on their everyday fare during the triumphant voyage along the Pacific coast. Uncle Sam is soon to come to a volcanic climate where the men have been fed, clothed, cared for and the like just the same as if they'd been on a business trip rather than a pleasure jaunt.

The navy department nothing to chance. That the sailors may have systems full of excellent food, given them by adoring landladies before they come back from liberty, does not enter into the calculations of the sea service's quartermaster's department. The "gobs" must be fed whether he wants it or not. Ice cream and lady fingers are all very well but good, solid, substantial fare such as mother used to purchase for the family cupboard, is what Uncle Sam gets for his nautical neophytes.

While the high cost of living is causing the land, the navy department, through its quartermaster officials, has kept the living problem away from the ocean. In other words, the officers do not care a hoot what they pay for the sailor's food. It isn't their money. Sea-biscuit and salt pork which kept alive the army men of other generations, aren't quite the staple foods sea officers once thought them.

As evidence of this fact, let it be known that every dreadnaught carries enough supplies in its innermost holds for the sailing men on board during a five month voyage. Only in this case, it wouldn't be. For instance when the ships anchor in San Francisco bay, details will be sent ashore or ships will come alongside the squadron, bringing fresh meat, land-tubbers' bread and other fresh supplies. Although the thirty-five days supplies are there, Uncle Sam says that nothing is too good for the gobs, and they get the best fat of the land.
